

LET YOUR ATTIC BREATHE

Attic temperatures can reach over 150 degrees in the summer without proper ventilation. Trapped attic heat and moisture work together to cause numerous problems including higher electric bills, mold breakouts and the deterioration of your home. Attic Breeze solar attic fans offer the perfect solution to these problems by continuously removing heat and moisture buildup throughout the day. Using only the power of the sun to cool your attic, Attic Breeze fans help reduce your electric bills, eliminate moisture, and extend the life of your A/C unit.

PRODUCT features

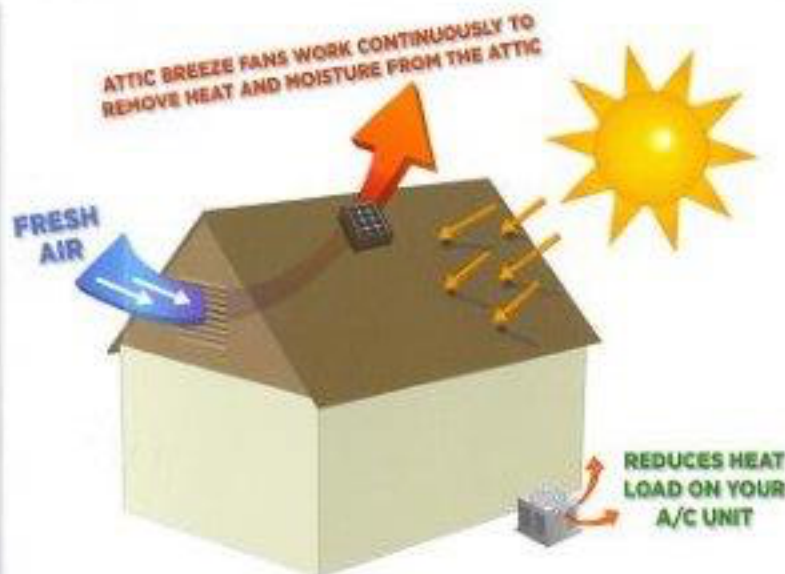

- ▶ Available in 20, 25, 40, and 60 watt models for both residential and commercial applications
- ▶ Corrosion resistant zincalume alloy construction with stainless steel hardware and brackets
- ▶ High-efficiency impact resistant monocrystalline solar panels
- ▶ Thermal switch included standard on residential models at no additional cost
- ▶ The most options and accessories available from any manufacturer
- ▶ Both Florida and Texas windstorm approved for hurricane force winds
- ▶ Compatible with the Breeze Mate® system for customized temperature and humidity control
- ▶ Dynamically balanced 14" aluminum fan blade for whisper quiet operation

▶ Powder coated finish available in:

If Your Attic Could Talk

It would ask for relief from the choking heat and lack of ventilation. The heat buildup resulting from trapped attic air has a direct impact on your electric bills, as well as the performance and unit life of your A/C system. Listen to your attic and help your attic breathe. Install an Attic Breeze solar attic fan today and start reaping the benefits of better ventilation and a more comfortable home. Your attic will thank you.

LIFETIME WARRANTY

Performance tested and American made, Attic Breeze solar attic fans are engineered for a lifetime of performance and durability. With its zincalume construction, monocrystalline solar panel, and UltraFlo® design technology, Attic Breeze manufactures the highest quality solar attic fans available. We stand behind our workmanship and commitment to quality by offering an industry leading lifetime warranty.

When quality and performance matter, the clear choice is Attic Breeze.

